MARKETING · BRAND · DESIGN · PRODUCT

I identify business problems, then build solutions around them.

Twelve years across marketing, brand, design and product. I help turn expensive problems into cost-saving solutions.

Hello, I’m Alroy

Twelve years, across a range of industries and every working arrangement there is: full-time employee, contractor, and my own boss, sometimes in the same year. Different industries and different budgets mean I have usually seen some version of the problem before.

I have built brands, websites, campaigns and products, then managed and marketed them, for organisations from the IFC and Meta down to founder-led startups. I run projects start to finish: diagnosis, plan, build, and the growth after launch.

85% of executives say their organisation is bad at diagnosing problems, and 87% say it costs them money. Most businesses do not need another supplier. They need someone to work out what is wrong first.

What I do

FOUR DISCIPLINES, ONE OPERATOR

01

Marketing & Growth

Campaigns and go-to-market plans built on audience insight and performance data, tuned for a number someone has to hit.

Paid media · Meta · Google · LinkedIn · TikTok · Demand generation · CRO & A/B testing · SEO · CRM & marketing automation · Analytics

02

Brand & Creative

Positioning, visual systems and the content that carries them across every touchpoint, not only the logo sheet.

Brand strategy · Visual identity · Art direction · Content strategy · Copywriting · Photography · Motion design

03

Product & UX

Apps and SaaS taken from problem to shipped product: discovery, UX/UI, build, and the roadmap that follows launch.

Product management · UX/UI design · User research · Prototyping · Design systems · Roadmapping · Accessibility

04

Business Tech & AI

Automation, AI and e-commerce systems that cut manual work, replace licence fees and scale with the business.

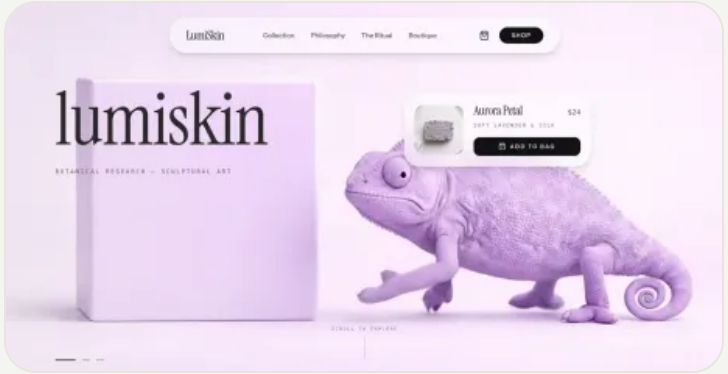

AI-native development · Agentic workflows · Process automation · API integration · RAG & grounding · E-commerce builds

A rebrand, a pipeline, and a product that replaced a licence

Led brand strategy and growth marketing: the rebrand with the founder, paid media and demand generation across LinkedIn, Google and Meta, and the CRM behind the pipeline. Then designed and built their social listening tool, integrated across every major platform.

Devotional apps either water scripture down or assume you already know it.

Generation grounded against a fixed scripture corpus, with a verification pass taking roughly 77% of the AI effort, because an app that quotes scripture cannot afford to misquote it.

How I build

IDENTIFY · BUILD · GROW

01 WEEK 0

Identify

I work out what the actual problem is, who it affects, and what a result would look like with a number on it. Twelve years of research, brand and campaign work is what makes this part quick. I do not write a proposal until it is clear.

02 WEEK BY WEEK

Build

I write the specification, choose the stack and direct coding agents, then review what they produce. Short cycles, with something you can look at by the end of each one. Four products reached launch this way in a single year.

03 LAUNCH ONWARD

Grow

Launching is the easy part. After it comes positioning, paid media, CRM and the content that carries them, measured against the number we agreed at the start.

1 day, under $300

The LumiSkin brand site, covering concept, AI production, front-end and motion

Against $6,500+ quoted for the same brief produced conventionally

US$5,000 a year, replaced

A social listening licence, rebuilt in-house for under R10,000

Now a product the company can sell instead of a cost it carries

IF YOU'RE HIRING

I am open to senior roles in marketing, brand, product and AI-native product building. The kind of brief that wants one person who can strategise, design and ship.

IF YOU NEED IT BUILT

Consulting and project work through the studio: brand and go-to-market, campaigns and paid media, websites and e-commerce, and software taken from problem to App Store.

Either way, the first conversation is free.
